To whom it may concern:

The Pima County, Arizona, chapter of Mod Madres is asking you to enforce the guidelines of the children's Television Act of 1990.. We need more educational and informational type programs for children. FCC must stand up for better education for our children and require that the programs will be aired at a time when most children are watching TV, such as after 3:00 pm... Television will be a powerful influence for these who are illiterate and drop out of school. Educational programs, if only for an hour a day, should be on when children are able to watch them, such as after 3 pm. At all age levels, there is a real need for programs that provide information on how to better themselves, even without school, thru other institutions.. The National Association for family and Community Education Volunteer Organization has been working to improve the above areas for children and we need your help.....

Thank you for your consideration and cooperation in the above matter...

It would mean alot to me if you could give us an answer, as to how you might approach this matter.....

Very Sincerely,

Betty Galea

Attention: Honorable Reed Hundt, Chairman

Dear Sir:

I am a member of the National Family, Community Education organization. As an organization, we have been focusing in the last few years on the impact of television on children.

I want to commend the FCC on the guidelines that have been set up for children's television in 1991.

Unfortunately, I don't feel that those guidelines are being implemented in an effective way. I see very few changes in the program content, nor the addition of programming which would educate or encourage constructive life choices.

As a grandmother, I'm concerned that my grandchild is growing up with TV that teaches violence as a way to solve problems. It often teaches disrespect for parents, teachers and others in authority. What has been passed off as "educational TV" is many times nothing more than the same thing with a different label.

I want to urge you to take another look at what's happening in children's TV and enforce the guidelines set up in 1991.

Thank you for your prompt efforts in this matter.

Sincerely,

Sonya Engbretson

Dear Mr. Hundt,

As a member of Arizona Family and Community Education, affiliated with the National Association for Family and Community Education volunteer organization, I am concerned about the quality and quantity of television programs available for children. Our children are our future!! And what a wonderful median our television is to educate and teach our children.

As a result of the Children's Television Act, a few excellent programs have been added but we still need more quality television programming, especially at peak hours when most of our children are likely to be watching.

I believe the Federal Communications Commision must take a stronger stand and come up with a clearer definition and stricter guidelines for educational programming.

Thanks for your attention to this very important matter.

Sincerely,

Marian Hannon
